

REQUIREMENTS AND INFORMATION FOR PROCESSORS

Thank you for helping feed families in New Mexico by participating in the New Mexico Hunters Helping the Hungry (NM-HHH) program. Through NM-HHH, hunters can donate legally harvested game to a participating meat processor. Processors will prepare the game for New Mexico food banks and be reimbursed through the program.

Processors participating in the program must be properly and currently licensed and certified by the New Mexico Environment Department.

Roadrunner Food Bank will administer the program. Please send questions to:

Joe Phy, VP Strategic Initiatives
Roadrunner Food Bank
(505) 369-2310
joe.phy@rrfb.org

How to participate:

1. Complete the New Mexico Environment Department Environmental Health Bureau "Plan Review Application for Hunters For the Hungry."
2. Once licensed and certified by the state, contact Roadrunner Food Bank (see above) to submit a W-9 form for reimbursement.
3. Hunters donate approved game meat for processing.
 - a. Allowed game meat includes deer, elk, antelope, ibex, oryx, and barbary sheep, per The Food Donors Liability act (41-10-1 NMSA).
4. Donating hunters complete and sign form attesting carcass was properly cared for in the field and during transport (see "Donation Form – Hunter").
5. Processors authorize if game meat donations can be accepted. Processors may refuse donations at their discretion if they believe if the animal being donated has not been properly in the field or during transport to the processor.
6. Processors complete donation form for hunters. One form per animal.
7. Processors grind meat and complete NM-HHH forms. All meat must be ground.
8. Hunters may elect to pay NM-HHH processing fee directly to the processor as part of their donation or processors send an invoice for reimbursement by mail or email to Roadrunner Food Bank. All animals must be individually invoiced. If a hunter covers the fees, a $0 invoice should still be sent.

Payment:

NM-HHH will pay approved processors their respective published rate for grinding and bagging with 15% beef or pork fat added. All wild game meat donated through the program will be ground. Packaging size is at the discretion of the processor, but is not to exceed 10-pound packages.

Storing and Processing Donated Meat:

All NM-HHH Program meat must be labeled “not for sale” and indicate the animal’s species. Specific labeling of program meat will include a NM-HHH processing number and the hunter identification number (hunting license number).
